

Ravilious Class Ceiling Collapse – 7th November 2025

It was about 11.15 and we were in an English lesson. The children were editing a piece of work and some were out of their seats to get their work checked by myself and Miss Andrews.

Miss Andrews was sitting at a desk, with MW opposite her. I was at my seat and Mrs Grattan was in the library doorway. All of a sudden there was a huge bang and a cloud of dust filled the classroom. My priority was to get all of the children out as quickly and calmly as possible. Some were covered in dust (in their hair and on their clothes) and some had become visibly distressed. I took a quick scan of the room to check on everyone and could see that everyone was able to walk and we left the room to go to the hall.

In the hall it became apparent that Miss Andrews had been hit on the head and that MH had injured her arm. One child had also become hysterical with what had just happened. Mrs Crow came into the hall and took these children into her office with Miss Andrews. Mrs Grattan and I stayed in the hall.
